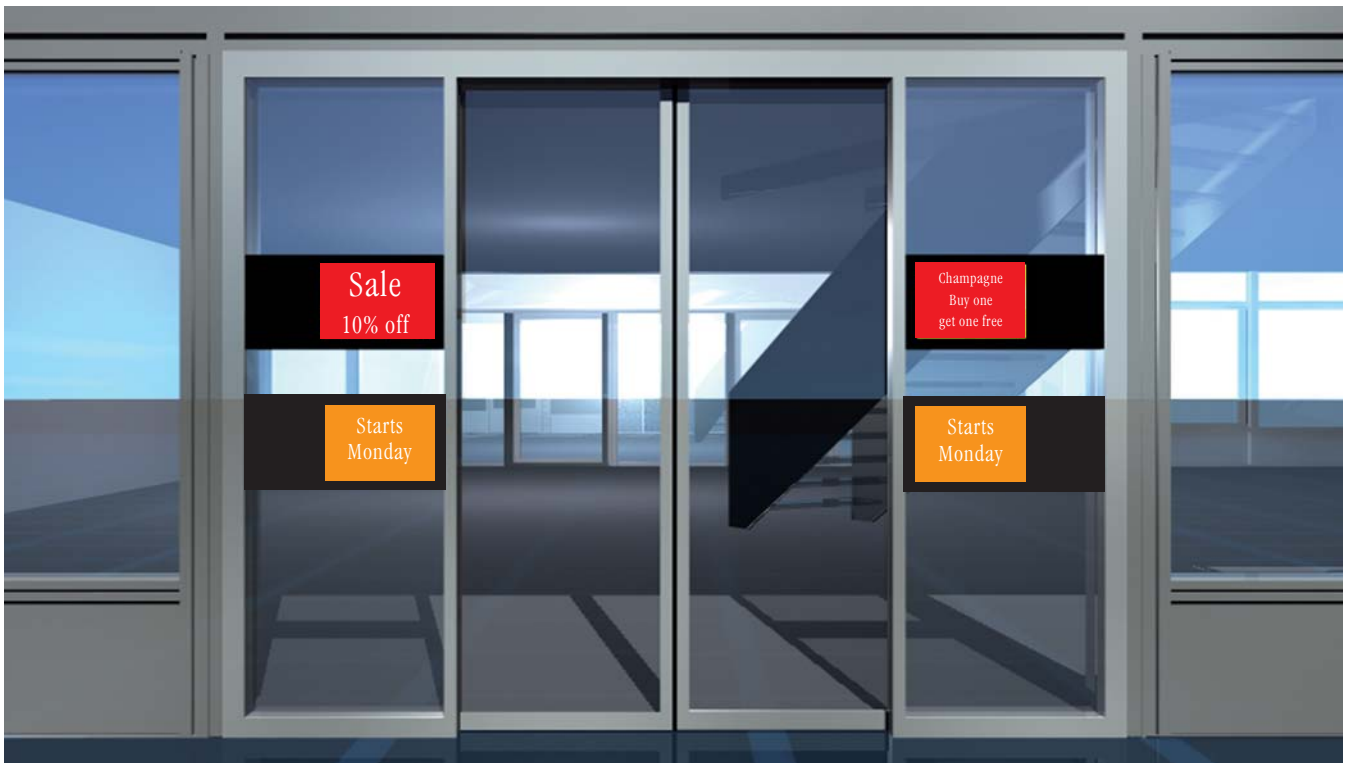
Optimising communication to your customers



Open your doors and communicate to your visitors directly at your entrance. The innovative automatic Kaba Media door not only offers all the benefits and convenience of an automatic door but is an excellent promotional tool that is eye catching.

Installed in your entrance, the new Media door combines the already proven SLX sliding door system together with flat screen technology to produce a powerful and extremely effective communication tool, targeting customers at their point of entry as well as drawing in passing trade.

Using flat screens built in to the fixed side panels, the system provides managers with an advertising platform that can be individually designed and changed as required. Messages such as product promotions, special offers, events or information will always be up to date and individually communicated and can serve to consolidate and even reinforce purchasing intentions.

The Media door is available with up to 3 flat screens in each side panel, all individually controlled via media players and CF card offering the opportunity to show freeze images or sequences. Data is transmitted via USB interface or as an alternative, the screens offer ports for connecting to a DVD player or computer.

Screens can also be mounted on a contrast enhancing dull black background ensuring they really grab your customers attention.
