Be part of the Water Revolution

"I first encountered Vivreau two years ago when a representative visited The London Marriott Grosvenor Square to introduce the system and products. As 'green champion' at the time for that hotel, I immediately identified with the positive environmental features of the product. Once sample bottles arrived, we were able to see that the product was very polished at the presentation point and also fully compliant with our hygiene requirements."

Hugh Hodgins, Director of Operations, Marriott Grosvenor Square
