

CIRCA & QUADRA - plywood column casing solutions

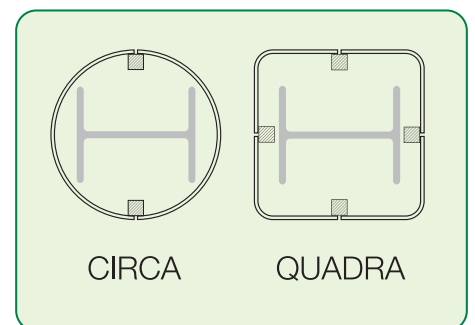

n-case plywood column casings provide the perfect solution for concealing interior structural columns enabling a decorative, stylish and integrated finish to be achieved simply, quickly and cost effectively.

The versatile Circa and Quadra column casings enable circular, square and rectangular casings to be produced to suit applications in a range of sectors including education, retail, commercial and leisure, offering a high level of design flexibility and a wide choice of finishes.

Covering diameters from 250mm to 1000mm, Circa casings are available in a choice of finishes with selected standard sizes available ex-stock for next day delivery. Quadra column casings maximise floor space by fitting closely to internal structural columns and can be configured for projects requiring square or rectangular casings in sizes from 300mm to 1200mm.

- Cost effective method of covering structural columns
- Range of standard sizes available
- Ex-stock - next day delivery
- Choice of plain, melamine, laminated and veneer finishes
- Easy to install
- Single fix dry trade

Don't just cover it n-case it.

FORMA - metal column casing solutions

The n-case Forma range includes both aluminium and stainless steel to provide the widest practical choice of column casings for use in both interior and exterior environments. An extensive range of shapes is available, including circles, semi-circles, squares and rectangles, which are produced in a choice of material thicknesses from 0.5mm to 3mm, depending on the specific project requirements.

Produced using precision bending techniques for accuracy, and to meet exact project specifications, Forma casings are also flexible enough to make installation a simple and straightforward process. Covering sizes from 250mm to 1000mm across all shapes in the range, they can be finished in a wide choice of powder coated finishes, patterns and perforations, making them ideally suited to 'custom' applications.

The range of shapes coupled with the choice of finishes, patterns and perforations ensure n-case metal column casings provide a versatile and distinctive solution that is simple and quick to install.

- Design flexibility
- Range of configurations and shapes
- Ideal for external and internal use
- Choice of finishes and colours

Don't just cover it n-case it.