PROJECT

225 City Road, London

At 225 City Road, providing secure and convenient storage for commuters with compact bicycles was a key priority. To meet this need, we installed 18 dedicated Folding Bike Lockers, purpose-built for Brompton style bikes. These lockers make the most of limited space while giving cyclists a safe and reliable place to store their bikes.

Each unit is designed with practicality and security in mind. The lockers feature robust construction with secure key or padlock cam locks, ensuring bikes remain protected throughout the day. Their compact footprint means they can be integrated into cycle facilities without compromising space for standard bike racks, making them a versatile option for high-density developments.

Durability was also essential. Built with moisture-resistant materials and finished to withstand daily use, the lockers combine long-term resilience with a clean, modern look that fits seamlessly within premium developments. For commuters, they provide a straightforward, user-friendly solution, quick to access, simple to secure, and designed around the realities of urban cycling.

By focusing on usability, security, and sustainability, our folding bike lockers offer a practical end of trip solution that enhances the overall cycling experience for residents and workers alike.
