

The iBox collection is made entirely out of a mix of granite or marble stones, in a variety of colours, the seat is dressed and it is sanded around the edges. In order to obtain the most varied compositions, the collection includes a range of 2300mm long seats with one or two bevelled ends and/or two shaped sides, in addition to a square element and a planter element. The surface is treated with special transparent satin opaque varnishes.

All elements are fitted with reinforced bushings for lifting and simple positioning on the ground.

Due to the modular nature of this range these elements can create simple yet stunning seating arrangements.
